

The Countryman Range

For the gardener who needs a tool he can rely on to provide years of dependable service. All heads are double riveted onto European Ash handles which is sourced from FSC® sustainable sources, which are then lacquered for protection against the weather.

The grips on all spades and forks are tilted forward, providing an overall ergonomic handle that is both comfortable to use and set at the ideal digging angle to reduce back strain.

The long-handled tools benefit from having a foam handle grip to make them more comfortable in prolonged use.
