Dashing Spars and Landscaping Supplies

Lloyds Spar Quarries

Lloyds Spar Quarries Ltd are suppliers of natural aggregates and stone products to the landscaping and construction industry throughout the United Kingdom. Our customer base includes builders merchants, construction and civil engineering companies, DIY outlets, garden centres and landscapers. Our materials are selected from quarries in the United Kingdom and Europe and, wherever possible, local quarried aggregates are used that are specific to the area. This policy supports local business and reduces the environmental impact of transporting aggregates.

We pride ourselves on offering our customers a product matching service which covers existing and new projects with natural stone products to suit their requirements.

Established for over 80 years, Lloyds Spar Quarries pioneered the importation of marble products into the UK

Our continued investment in plant and machinery gives us unrivalled ability to supply bespoke specialised aggregate products in loose and bagged formats to suit all market sectors.

All products shown in this brochure are shown when wet and the colour can be different when dry. All photos are representative of the product but no guarantees are given that products supplied will match exactly due to the natural colour variation of aggregates. We reserve the right to amend/replace or remove any product from the range without notice. All products are subject to availability. Printing processes can alter the natural colour of the aggregates shown and representative samples are available on request.

'Iron staining' is a completely natural occurrence that can affect some stones when exposed to the environment. Products that may contain iron traces are marked within a box like this.

Whilst iron staining can cosmetically change and alter the appearance of affected areas it has no detrimental effect on the render itself.
